We are innovation

We identify unprecedented needs in the most unprotected sectors and we offer innovative solutions

Digitalization

- + Launch of the predictive tool to identify situations of vulnerability due to the digital gap at the Mobile World Congress
- + We organize the training 'Development of organizational digital skills for leaders of the social third sector'

Awareness

- + With the campaign 'The most expensive trip in the world' we sensitize people about human trafficking and we create a support network for the survivors
- + Through the SENES project, we reflect on ageism with an annual day
- + With ITS sex ITS life from Sexus we sensitize youngsters about sexual health and sexually transmitted infections

Empowerment

- + With Cut All Ties, we improve the ability to recognize gender-based violence among young people
- + We promote MamáJoven, a new initiative to inform and advise teenage mothers
- + With Cooltorise, we implement a project aimed at energy poverty during hot periods, the first European project financed for this purpose

We are Third Sector

We work to reduce inequalities and social and health vulnerability

Since 2019 we have a Special Advisory Status with the United Nations Economic and Social Council ECOSOC

We are social commitment, collaboration and networking

7,921	people in substance abuse treatment programs	5,366	young people in sexual health, addiction prevention, non-violence, co-education and LGBTBIQ+ workshops
37,264	people in prevention services for alcohol and drugs consumption	19,830	consultations on energy poverty
29,421	migrant people attended from more than 130 nationalities	214	people in social housing programs
359,489	kilos of food distributed	104	accompanied people living with HIV

Drugs and health

"We have incorporated the accommodation center for homeless people with addictions into the portfolio of drug addiction services. It is a pioneering and unique resource that makes us a reference for an innovative approach in harm reduction at a national and European level"

Poverty and inclusion

"We have survived a year that has required a lot of effort. Fighting with social and health care in a context of invisibility such as the one in which we are moving, requires enormous human, professional and voluntary strength"

Children, families and gender equality

"The lack of housing is a reality experienced by many families with children under 3 years old. To deal with this situation, we have opened new places to accommodate more families during the pregnancy stage and for the first 3 years of parenting"

Volunteering / 19,238 hours of volunteering

"We have recovered the volume of voluntary activity before the pandemic, resuming all face-to-face actions. There are many people who get involved and participate in the construction of a fairer and more supportive society"

We are singularity and sustainability

42,434 families in meeting spaces

5,259 women and their children victims of gender-based violence assisted

1,782 mothers in parenting programs

1,462 people on personalized itineraries for social and labor insertion

4,279 elderly people in home care services, residences and homes with support services

185 elderly people participating in an innovative digital literacy project

214 people with intellectual disabilities cared for

235 communicative actions with social impact

Home care services

“We work for an intergenerational, community, innovative and participative model to achieve social transformation”

Promotion of self-sufficient and dignified ageing

“We develop artificial intelligence tools to fight against unwanted loneliness, encourage good treatment and contribute to the digital literacy of users”

Intellectual disability

“We have managed to make the user the protagonist of the service”

International / 13 international projects

“We have expanded the portfolio of projects and, therefore, we have increased the possibilities of making visible and finding solutions to social challenges and situations of injustice and inequality at a transnational level”

+ We are professionalism, experience and transparency
